Max’s Words

Written by Kate Banks
Illustrated by Boris Kulikov

Summary

Max’s brothers have grand collections that everyone makes a big fuss over. Benjamin collects stamps and Karl collects coins, and neither one will share with their little brother. So Max decides to start a collection of his own. He’s going to collect words. He starts with small words that he cuts out of newspapers and magazines, but soon his collection has spilled out into the hall. All the while, his brothers are watching. Benjamin brags that he has one thousand stamps. Karl is just a few coins short of five hundred. But a thousand stamps is really just a bunch of stamps, and a lot of coins is only a heap of money. A pile of words, however, can make a story.

Toad By the Road

A Year in the Life of These Amazing Amphibians

Written by Joanne Ryder
Illustrated by Maggie Kneen

Summary

Toads are small and often unseen by human eyes, but their world is rich and varied. The toads in these eloquent poems describe their many wonders, from sticky fly-catching tongues, to the way they shed skin, and camouflage. Joanne Ryder traces the life cycle of amphibians as they change from springtime tadpoles into full-grown toads that hibernate in winter. Maggie Kneen’s illustrations showcase toads in their natural habitat with precise, dramatic detail. You’ll never think of toads the same way again!

Winston the Book Wolf
Written by Marni McGee & Ian Beck

Summary

Winston the Wolf is very, very hungry. And when he’s hungry, there’s nothing he loves to do more than eat books! His eating habits get him banned from the library, so Rosie takes him out into the woods to teach him how to read books, not eat them. Winston finds that words taste even better when he devours them with his eyes. But now that he’s learned the right way to treat books, he needs to find a way back into the library. . . maybe Rosie’s grandmother’s clothes would be the perfect disguise to fool the librarian! This hilarious takeoff on Little Red Riding Hood, complete with fabulous art and a die-cut cover, highlights the importance of books and the joy of reading.

Martina the Beautiful Cockroach A Cuban Folktale
Retold by Carmen Agra Deedy
Illustrated by Michael Austin

Summary

Martina is now 21 days old and ready to get married. People in her family offer her things to make her even more lovely, but her Abuela gives her some strange advice instead, recommending the coffee test on each suitor to see how they respond when angry. Martina doesn't really think it will work, but her Cuban Abuela insists. Martina is astonished to see how each person's demeanor changes when she dumps a cup of coffee on their feet. That is until she finds exactly the right suitor.

Woolbur
Written by Leslie Helakoski
Illustrated by Lee Harper

Summary

Woolbur is not like other sheep. He hangs out with wild dogs, cards his own wool to avoid the shearing barn, and even dyes his wool blue. "Don't worry!" says Grandpaa when Maa and Paa fret that Woolbur is different. But when they tell their son to follow the flock, the opposite happens—the flock follows him! Soon everyone is copying his wild hairstyles and taking turns on the spinning wheel. Leave it to Woolbur to find a new way to step ahead of the herd.

Emma’s Turtle
Written by Eve Bunting
Illustrated by Marsha Winborn

Summary

Emma’s turtle lives in a backyard pen. He enjoys snacks that Emma feeds him. He also loves to listen to Emma as she tells him about faraway places such as Africa, Australia, and China. Emma’s turtle has a good life, but he often dreams of those faraway places. One day he decides to stop dreaming and see the world beyond his pen. Eve Bunting’s adorable story of an adventurous turtle is delightfully illustrated by Marsha Winborn.
